LIVE WIRES OFTEN LEADERS IN SERVICE

PROF. B. B. COBB SO DECLARES IN FIRST ADDRESS ON "PHILOSOPHY OF ROTARY."

RESUME OF CHICAGO TRIP GIVEN

Stereopticon Lecture on Telegraph Business Presented by A. G. Steele and W. B. Kendall.

It is quite possible for the modern "live wire" in a commercial and civic sense to be a leader in the service of his fellows, declared Prof. B. B. Cobb, new superintendent of the public schools of the city, yesterday in an address before the Rotary club. He had been assigned to deliver the first address in a series of addresses on "The Philosophy of Rotary," and he declared that it was not infrequently the case that the best wires in the profession of a town were also the leaders in church, educational and social work and were largely engaged in the service of others.

The man who merely accumulates wealth or makes a success of his profession is no longer regarded as the largest man of a community. Prof. Cobb said, and the world is coming to value a man's worth by the amount of service he renders to others for it is in this respect, he said, that a man really becomes of worth to a community. There is no incompatibility between aggressive business methods and altruistic service, for many men have come to recognize that their ability to make money involves an obligation to make it and then employ it in making the world better and happier. It is quite possible for the average business man to become a true Rotarian and live up to the Rotary ideal. "The profits serve best," the speaker declared. His address was well received.

W. W. Woodson, acting as toastmaster for Dr. J. L. Kesler, who had not returned from Chicago, gave a brief resume of the trip of the Waco delegation to the convention of the Associated Ad Clubs of the World. Mr. Woodson going as a representative of the Rotary club, when John F. Wright, regularly appointed delegate, found it impossible to attend. He said the address of Prof. Kesler in one of the churches on Sunday morning was one of the best of the convention and was well received, while he paid high praise to the spirit and the contents of the address of Joseph E. Davies, chairman of the new federal trade commission, in which he voiced the attitude of the present administration to business as one of co-operation rather than antagonism. He said the Texas delegation made a hit in the big parade and elsewhere, and declared the most significant feature of the whole convention was the high standard that was taken for truthfulness in advertising and honesty in business dealings. The influence of the convention in this direction will be far-reaching he felt.

Convention Incidents Told.

W. V. Crawford, president of the Associated Ad Clubs of Texas, supplemented the report of Mr. Woodson by telling a few incidents of a humorous nature affecting some of the Waco delegates. He declared the convention was a success in every way and one well worth attending.

Impromptu addresses were delivered by H. C. Fisher, vice president of the Behrens Drug Company, a visitor, and James Hays Quarles, news editor of the Tribune, who yesterday resumed his membership in the club after an absence of more than a year.

Dr. S. P. Brooks was granted a leave of absence during the summer as a letter from him stated he would find it impossible to attend regularly. A letter was received from the New York Rotary club, telling of the pleasure of the members in entertaining J. M. Penland, ex-president of the Waco club, who is now in that city on business, and inviting all other members of the Waco club who might visit their club headquarters in New York.

For next Monday H. L. Davis will be toastmaster. Allan D. Sanford will be the principal speaker and a special committee of R. J. Windrow and T. H. Williams will provide special entertainment.

Stereopticon Lecture.

One of the most interesting features of the club has enjoyed for many weeks was afforded yesterday in a stereopticon lecture on the development of the telegraph business, A. G. Steele offering this in lieu of an address by himself on the business, as he was originally scheduled for. The slides were shown by W. B. Kendall, division cable manager, with headquarters in Dallas.

The first signalling of messages known to man was by building fires on hilltops. Mr. Kendall explained, and from this rude method of communication of the early stage of civilization he traced the development of telegraph and cable systems of today. He showed lines depicting the old method of transmission of telegraph messages by tape-line rather than by sound, as is the custom today, gave photographs of the first telegrams ever sent in this country, the first cablegram ever sent from America to Europe, photographs of the Morse alphabet, which he said was so perfect that it has never had to be revised, and illustrations of the highly perfected machines with typewriter keys, boards on which a telegraph operator can write messages in great rapidity on tape-lines and these tape-lines are then fed through sending machines and the messages sent as accurately and more rapidly than a human operator can do.

Interesting among the photographs were those of the Great Eastern, the ships that was employed in laying the first trans-Atlantic cable. The original cost on cable messages to Europe was $1 per letter, while now a message of thirteen words can be sent into the heart of Europe for $1.30 per thirteen words. Other slides portrayed the damage done to the lines of telegraph companies by heavy sheets and other interruptions to the service were explained.

Training Schools Shown.

Evidencing the efforts of the company to promote the greatest efficiency throughout its service, slides were shown depicting training schools for messenger boys and the lecturer explained that in large cities where many boys were employed reading rooms, shower baths and various other conveniences were provided for them, just as for the many operators employed. The concluding slide was

Chief Justice Visits Judge George Clark

Chief Justice Nelson Phillips of the Texas supreme court spent yesterday in Waco, visiting his old friend, Judge George Clark. He took dinner last night at the home of O. L. Strubling, also an old friend, and will return to Austin this morning. Justice Phillips declined to discuss public matters, saying that he was here simply to pay a visit to Judge Clark.

An Easy Way to Increase Weight

GOOD ADVICE FOR THIN FOLKS.

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods, rubbing on useless "flesh creams" or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This master-stroke of modern chemistry is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through its regenerative, reconstructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body.

Picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Powers-Kelly Drug Co. and other leading druggists of Waco and vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

Caution—While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

SUMMER RACE MEET RECEIVES IMPULSE

SEPTEMBER 5, 6, 7, 8 ARE TENTATIVE DATES SET BY THE SYNDICATE.

WORKING AGREEMENT REACHED

Stockmen and Cotton Palace Directors Confer—Start Today to Raise Purses.

A working agreement between the Cotton Palace association and the proposed syndicate of McLennan county stockmen by which summer race meet of four days will be held on the new grounds of the exposition during the early part of September was reached at a meeting of representatives of the two organizations held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night. By the provisions of the agreement, which will probably be ratified by the Cotton Palace directors, the Cotton Palace association is to be relieved of all cost of maintaining the meet after the track and grandstand have been constructed and the barns on the old grounds moved to the proper place, and is to receive 15 per cent of the net receipts of the meet. Work will begin today on raising guarantees for premiums to amount to about $5,500.

Stockmen present at the meeting last night were T. N. McMullen, William Williams and Cecil Shear of Waco; Bob Nichols and Seth Reed of Mart; L. C. Estes of Groesbeck. The Cotton Palace association was represented by President Asher Sanger, L. Mikel, Ralph McLendon, W. T. Abernathy, directors, and Secretary S. N. Mayfield.

Contract for building the track was let yesterday noon to W. E. Jackson. Preliminary work will begin this morning, and work will be rushed to give the finished course time to season before the time for the summer race meet, which was tentatively set for Sept. 5, 6, 7, 8. Final decision as to the exact date will depend on the bookings of the Central Texas circuit organized recently at the meeting of the Texas Federation of Fairs held in this city. Contract for moving the barns will be let today.

Some opposition to participation by the Cotton Palace in a plan based on net receipts of the races developed at the meeting last night, but in view of the fact that races in Waco are an unknown quantity, and the promoters will have to take all the risk of small attendance and bad weather, objections were withdrawn. It was also pointed out that other attractions of the Cotton Palace will not be a drawing card to the summer races, as the exposition will not be open at the time.

L. C. Estes of Groesbeck, proprietor of "Hogheaven Farm" and a prominent hog raiser and exhibitor, promised the Cotton Palace his entire exhibit pen of hogs this year. Mr. Estes has heretofore exhibited extensively at the Dallas fair, but says he will bring all his prize winners to Waco this fall. Mr. Estes made several helpful suggestions on arranging the barns for exhibiting hogs which may be acted on by the directors at a later meeting.

Important Business Before Y. M. B. L. Directors Tonight

Committees to make arrangements for a good roads celebration upon the completion of the million-dollar system around Waco, to complete plans for a trade trip by interurban to Corsicana, and an excursion to Galveston during the Cotton Carnival will be named by President J. J. Hutchison at the meeting of the Y. M. B. L. directors tonight.

It will probably be decided to hold the next two general meetings of the league in the open air. The first of these will probably be held in Cameron park on the night of July 13. Directors of the league who are absent last week attending the ad men's convention in Chicago will be present at the meeting tonight. Committee reports will include a resume of the work for the past two weeks for the benefit of those who were absent last week.

Bankers' Magazine Contains Speeches of Two Waco Men

Waco receives much valuable publicity in the June issue of the Texas Bankers' Record, which contains a complete report of the proceedings of the State Bankers' association held here last month. Speeches made before the association by W. W. Woodson, cashier of the Central Texas Exchange National bank, and Secretary E. F. Drake of the Chamber of Commerce are printed in full. Mr. Woodson's subject was "The City Banker's Relations to the Country Banker." Mr. Drake presented his pig club plan. Several views of the city are printed in the magazine.

COMMENCEMENT AND THE COMING YEARS.

Discussing something of the responsibility and the opportunity of the college graduate, a recent issue of Collier's says:

"When a man leaves college he is in debt. The truth that others toiled to get from the darkness has been spread before him free as the glories of sunset; the justice that others died in pain to establish has been for him the sure foundation of everyday life; the freedom that martyrs dreamed and heroes won is but his natural air. What should a man do then? Sing Sing and Wall street know what some of them will do. It is possible for a boy of twenty to be as hard and cold, as selfish in pleasure and blind for gain, as any millionaire villain on a moving picture film. For such our nation may have tolerance, but no hope; our future looks to those who have some warmth of nature and some truth of heart. These will go out to serve. As far as the ability may be given them, they will work and endure, turning the slackness and dullness of others into purpose and into power. The going forward of the community will depend very largely upon their force and insight. They may or may not make money, and it doesn't matter. Bones to bury and a warm bed is the reward for a dog, not for a man. One of the greatest football players the east ever saw has long been an apostle of justice and better living on the iron ranges of northern Michigan. A man died the other day who had been thirty years an officer in one of the big railroads; he didn't leave much property, but he did leave a name unstained by selfishness or fraud. There are many such among us, and it is they who lead in making our United States, in slowly converting the old animism of human nature into the story of true humanity. Commencement day is a chance to line up for life on that side of the battle."

One of the most hopeful tendencies of today is the acknowledgment on the part of those of larger opportunities for culture and knowledge of their obligations to employ that culture and knowledge for the benefit of their fellows. It is good that the colleges are both bringing them to this realization of duty and then equipping them with more practical and less theoretical information or knowledge—knowledge which, when applied—brings practical and beneficent results.

At no time in history have we needed trained men and women quite so much as now. We need them not alone in the business of industry and finance, but in fighting ignorance in the school room, disease and filth in the home, immorality and crime wherever they are found, and inefficiency everywhere. The young college graduate is naturally an optimist. He longs for an opportunity to do things and sometimes thinks long of the course of preparation which he must undergo. But he cannot complain of lack of opportunity to work or serve when he leaves college today. Work and opportunity are everywhere and he who chooses the opportunity to serve others rather than work for himself alone is the one who is going to find most happiness for himself and bring it to others. And he can rest assured that he can lay by a reasonable competence for himself and family at the same time if he will exercise energy and discretion.

Our old friend, Vic Huerta, may have told the United States to——In 1914 when he was commanded to salute the flag, but he will hardly do so now.

THE DEGREE OF M. F.

It has been the custom for many years for our colleges to confer upon theologians, doctors, authors, inventors, financiers and others who have wrought special service or achieved particular distinction in their special fields, but our institutions of higher learning have, for the most part, ignored the constructive men of the soil, the representatives of that most fundamental of all our industries, agriculture.

The Utah State College of Agriculture is the one exception, we believe, and on the occasion of the annual commencement of that institution a few days ago, the trustees and faculty, desiring to pay deserved recognition to the work of men who had not had the privilege of thorough scientific training, but who had recognized their obligations to make the most of their opportunities, and had, as a result, made valuable contributions to the knowledge of the state, conferred the degree of Master Farmer on five farmers of Utah.

One of the recipients of the degree had broken all records in dry farming by bringing the production of dry farming wheat up to sixty-three bushels to the acre. Another, a breeder of fine sheep, had, in addition to exporting stock to Mexico and South America, shown his neighbors what a model home is like. A third had contributed much to the civilization of rural sections by becoming a pioneer in the organization of co-operative marketing systems, while the other two had for several years led the way in the development of unsettled portions of the state.

This is a move in the right direction. There can be no more important, no more fundamental work, than the proper development of our agricultural resources and our rural life. The man or woman who contributes to the welfare of the rural communities contributes to the welfare of society as a whole, for it is upon the rural communities that our urban centers draw continually for new energy, and new blood to replete the fast-wasted energy and blood of the cities.

We hope not only the colleges of Texas but civic organizations such as fair associations, chambers of commerce and the like will encourage the farmers to do their best by giving proper recognition to those who have accomplished things worth while. More prizes might be given for results obtained through more efficient and diversified farming, but we would like to see the colleges place agricultural effort upon an equal plane with that of any other field of human endeavor in their estimation and reward special efficiency in that field just as they do efficiency in other lines of human effort with those badges of merit which have a higher value than money because they cannot be bought with money.

And if the time were ever opportune for the encouragement along this line it is now. Although there has been an estimated cotton acreage reduction of 15 per cent this year, the chances are the yield will be very large again, the price low if the crop is rushed on the market in the usual manner, and the same demoralized situation that marked last year prevail again. As we were suggesting yesterday, the thing to do is to prepare to store the cotton in good warehouses where it can be protected from the weather and insured against damage by fire, and then market the crop as the demand justifies. But that is not enough. We have begun to diversify on a small scale this year. We must do so on a larger scale next year and then progress in that direction until the South is no longer a one-crop country, for the one-crop idea is responsible for the credit system and the usurious rate of interest which have so enslaved the farmer. Before we can diversify as we ought, however, it is going to require a diversification of knowledge, a wider knowledge of what we can grow and market successfully here.

Study, intelligent, practical study, along this line will constitute a service that will be really worth while to the people of the South, and the man who takes the lead in work of this character will have earned the honorary degree of Master Farmer whether any of our colleges see fit to confer it upon him or not.

Prospective brides and grooms who contemplate a honeymoon to New York City can save the cost of a marriage license by going to New York to procure it. The authorities there claim the special revenue tax of 10 cents is all that they are allowed to charge for a wedding permit, and of course that is all a goodly number of the matrimonial candidates are paying.

If you want to make life happier for some one who has, by the very nature of things, to put up with a good many hardships, send a batch of books to the Morning News office for the soldiers on the Texas-Mexico frontier. Today and tomorrow afford your last chance.

One thing in our favor this year is that the American tourists will spend their money in America instead of abroad.

BETTER SERVICE FOR MARLIN ON I. & G. N.

NEW DAYLIGHT TRAIN EXPECTED TO BE PUT ON ABOUT JULY 12.

W. P. Marlin of Near Regan Brings in the First Big Healthy Boll of Cotton.

Marlin, June 28.—After a schedule of about two months' duration whereby the people of this city have been deprived of a daylight service over the International & Great Northern railway, there finally appears to be a definite move on the part of the road to reinstate the former day service practically as it was before. It is reported on good authority that a service will be started again on July 12th, but Agent Young states he has no official confirmation of that report, although he has heard the service will start then.

Judge Munroe Fines Jurors.
Marlin, June 28.—When district court opened this morning Judge Munroe found fifteen men summoned for jury duty had failed to respond, and after assessing a $10 fine against each one, ordered a writ of habeas corpus that all were brought into court for duty. The following were on hand when court opened and were sworn in for service: Ed Braden, J. E. Bain, A. L. Colmena, H. C. Chandler, R. H. Dupuy, W. L. Dunsmore, R. L. Meadows, Walter McDade, W. L. Meyer, T. W. Nables, J. R. Andings, Ed Hartman and J. W. Houston.

B. Y. P. U. Organized.
Marlin, June 28.—After an address by Dr. McGill, state organizer of the B. Y. P. U., a senior B. Y. P. U. was organized at the First Baptist church in this city Sunday afternoon, with the following officers: H. C. Jennings, president; H. E. Wren, vice president; Miss Annie Hunnicutt, secretary; Miss Helen Lamb, corresponding secretary; F. B. Hutchinson, chorister; Miss Mary Louise Lamb, pianist, and Miss Rosalind Kyser, librarian.

Big Cotton Bolls.
Marlin, June 28.—W. P. Marlin of near Regan is the first man to reach Marlin showing nice, large, healthy bolls of cotton. They are still green but large enough to burst open and he claims he has about twelve acres loaded with them.

Plan for Old Settlers' Picnic.
Marlin, June 28.—The Old Settlers of Falls county are getting ready for their big annual picnic and camping reunion which will be enjoyed on their camp grounds on Tomlinson Hill July 20, 21 and 22. They expect a large attendance and predict a great time.

Wacoans at Marlin.
Marlin, June 28.—Among those registered at the Marlin hotels are the following Waco people: Mrs. M. C. Adams, Mollie Horne, H. E. Kepler, H. R. Wagner.

West Baptist Revival.
West, June 28.—The Rev. L. E. Masters of Waco, Baptist missionary for McLennan county, and H. C. Cox of Waco, singer, have been assisting the Rev. L. L. Burkhalter, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, in the annual revival of the church for the last two weeks. Services have been held under a large tent, and have been well attended. It is probable that the meeting will continue until next Sunday.

Members of the young men's class of the church, the Berean, held their first meeting today in their new bungalow class room that was built by the members of the class. The building is a neat little structure built to accommodate a class of thirty, located on the Baptist church property. It was planned, erected, painted and furnished by the young men of the class under the direction of a skilled carpenter.

Rally of Lady Macabees.
Temple, June 28.—A big district rally of Lady Macabees from central and west Texas will be held here Tuesday under the auspices of Temple Hive No. 13 of the order, with over one hundred visitors in attendance from other cities. A program of entertainment has been prepared. The meeting will open at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday with a reception in honor of Mrs. Laura B. Hart of San Antonio, supreme past commander, Mrs. Mary E. Moton, representative, and other visitors. In the afternoon a class of fifty new members will be received into Temple hive. The evening will be spent in auto rides, receptions, luncheons and other forms of entertainment.

Corn in Good Shape.
Temple, June 28.—Corn in this immediate section is in satisfactory condition, but will require more rain within the next week or ten days if late plantings are to make any yield. Planting was carried on this year from February to April with the bulk in March. The first plantings are now making, while March program is the roasting ear stage and will make a good yield even if no more rain is received. The April plantings must have an early rain in order to make a good yield. Neither corn or cotton is yet suffering for moisture, but the intense dry, hot weather of the past ten days is commencing to have its effect on all kinds of vegetables.

Fry Jury Still Disagrees.
Wichita Falls, June 28.—The jury in the case of former Representative E. W. Fry, charged with forgery of Young county warrants while county judge of Young county, reported yesterday it was unable to reach a verdict. The jury was ordered to deliberate further. The case has been in the jury's hands since 3:25 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The state prosecutor today intimidated that none of the forty-eight other indictments against Fry on similar charges would be taken up before September. The case was tried here on a charge of venue.

Threshing at Mt. Calm.
Mt. Calm, June 28.—Grain threshing is in full swing now, and the best oats are threshing out sixty bushels to the acre and the best wheat twenty bushels.

Instead of planting their grain stubble in cotton, as has been the custom, the farmers are planting feed crops. Though another rain is needed on corn, crop prospects are 50 per cent better than at this date last year.

Red Cross Man at Texarkana.
Texarkana, June 28.—M. Hubbard, special representative from Washington of the Red Cross society, came here today to investigate conditions among Bowie county farmers who lost heavily in the recent Red river floods.

DR. BRUMBY OF WACO HEADS HEALTH BOARDS

ASSOCIATION FORMED AT AUSTIN FOR BETTER ENFORCEMENT SANITARY LAWS.

Annual Meetings Will Be Held and Public Health Measures Discussed.

Austin, Tex., June 28.—Having for its purpose advancement of sanitary science, promotion of better cooperation and organization of boards of health and the uniform enforcement of sanitary laws and regulations, the Association of Boards of Health of Texas was recently organized here tonight. Officers were elected as follows:

Drs. W. M. Brumby, Waco, president; W. E. Spivey, Belton; Charles Carver, Eagle Pass; W. W. Latham, Crockett; T. C. Wray, Dayton; R. L. Graham, Cotulla, vice presidents; W. Loomis, Dallas, secretary; J. C. Wynn, Gilmer, treasurer.

The association will meet annually and discuss scientific papers bearing on public health and preventative medicine.

Texas Births Exceed Deaths.
Austin, June 28.—State Registrar of Vital Statistics Davis today made public the report for May, which shows the total number of births during May to be 3,762, of which 1,726 are male, white, and 1,626 female, white, and 12 male, black, and 12 female, black. There were 42 sets of twins born during the month, 20 being females, six males and 13 males and females, two sets of black males and one set of black male and female. Total number of deaths reported was 2,559, one being a male, white, from Bexar county, 111 years of age; one male, white, from the same county, 110 years old, and one female from Cameron county, 105 years old.

Tuberculosis of the lungs was the leading cause of death, there being 306.

Ferguson Making Speeches.

Austin, June 28.—Governor Ferguson left today at noon for Center, Shelby county, where he speaks tomorrow at a Woodmen celebration. From there the governor goes to Kirbyville, where on the following day he will speak. He will then proceed to Beaumont, where he will spend a short time and then proceed to Houston. He then returns to Austin and will spend a brief period and then go to Carrizo Springs, where he is scheduled to deliver a Fourth of July speech at a celebration there on July 5.

Fourth of July Pardons.

Austin, June 28.—Probably twenty Fourth of July pardons are to be issued by Governor Ferguson to deserving convicts. There are now eleven on the list and about nine or ten more are to be added. These pardons are to be issued during the latter part of this week. The board of pardons is now at work on the remainder of the list.

Few Corporations Delinquent.

Austin, June 28.—Of the 12,000 foreign and domestic corporations doing business in Texas, it is learned from the state department, only about 800 are delinquent in the payment of their franchise taxes.

Big Oat Crop at West.

West, June 28.—With an average yield of 40 bushels of oats to the acre the farmers of this community are harvesting more than three times the usual amount of grain this year because of a greatly increased acreage. Wheat is yielding about eighteen bushels to the acre. Threshing season is in full swing, with approximately more than half of the harvest completed.

Our new threshing machines were unloaded in West last week, and more than four times as many reaping machines as last year were sold by local dealers this season. This is taken to indicate a change from the tendency of this immediate section toward an almost exclusive production of cotton.

Two farmers living three miles north of here are reported to have produced more than a hundred bushels of wheat to the acre on large fields. This is exceptional for this community.

"Buy-It-in-Texas" in Air.

Dallas, June 28.—A meeting of the committee of six of the "Buy-It-in-Texas" meeting held here today, was proposed by J. R. Shelton of Fort Worth that the Dallas manufacturers, represented by the Merchants and Manufacturers association, select six Dallas manufacturers from which one or two directors of the association would be named.

The meeting concluded with the refusal of the Dallas men present to endorse the movement, or to select the six men from whom the name of a director might be chosen. They agreed, however, to call a meeting of the manufacturers to consider the by-laws and constitution of the state association. Then they were to decide on indorsement.

Shipping Truck and Fruit.

Rising Star, June 28.—The Rising Star Fruit and Truck Growers' association has begun its season's work very auspiciously. Dewberries, blackberries, snap beans and peas, especially, have been shipped in large quantities, the greater part of which would have gone to waste but for the work of the association. They propose shipping a car of early peaches this week. Tomatoes will soon be ready for shipment, and a little later cantaloupes will be shipped by the carload lots. Rains have been very opportune so far and if they continue, bumper crops of every kind are expected except cotton, which the boll weevil is injuring. However, the cotton acreage is very small, so that doesn't affect the country's financial prospects materially.

Jinney Men Lose at El Paso.

El Paso, June 28.—District Judge P. R. Price today refused to grant an injunction to the Nickel Automobile Drivers of this city to restrain the city from enforcing its new regulatory ordinance against such cars. The ordinance, which now becomes effective, requires all such drivers to post a bond of $1,000, pay annual registration fees of $50 and make continuous inspection service eight hours each day and must have permanent routes, not deviate from routes specified in application and shown upon signs to be carried on each car. The ordinance also requires lights in cars at night.

Senate Committee at Houston.

Houston, June 28.—Members of the senate prison investigating committee departed early this morning for the South Texas farms where investigations will be pushed during the next few days. The committee has completed its personal inspection of conditions at Huntsville and Comanche and has also gone over the state railway.

Rate Hearing is Almost Completed

Austin, June 28.—Today's rate hearing before the railroad commission was a crazy quilt of exhibits, as might be expected in the closing hours of the shippers' case. As was expected the hearing on exhibit No. 33 on miscellaneous between Houston and Galveston consumed the greater part of the day, and will probably not be taken under advisement until noon tomorrow. The case of the Houston shippers was conducted by Judge W. H. Gill of Houston, and the personnel of witnesses was confined almost entirely to Houston men.

Indications of a compromise on exhibit No. 29 on turpentine and rosin appeared this morning. Benton McMillin of Renig said that the dealers in these commodities were quite willing to yield to a 15 per cent increase in rates to the carriers, although they strongly oppose any change in the present Texas common point territory or in the differentials.

Woman Injured in Accident.

Meridian, June 28.—Yesterday evening while out driving the horse which Mr. and Mrs. Jim Weeks were driving became frightened just as they were about to cross a small culvert near the depot, and jumping to one side turned the buggy into the ravine below, which was about 8 to 10 feet deep. The buggy landed on its top and Mr. Weeks jumped and escaped unhurt, but Mrs. Weeks was pinned under the buggy and was considerably bruised about the arms and legs and injured internally, but her condition is not thought to be of a serious nature. About the only damage to the buggy was the shafts being broken.

Bond Election at West.

West, June 28.—An election to determine whether or not this city shall float bonds to the amount of $12,500 for the installation of a sewerage system will be held on July 6. Should the election carry, the bond issue will consume the balance of a 25-cent property tax allowed this city for public improvements. For several years a sewerage system for the business district has been advocated, but it remained for the recent city commission to force the government to witness the calling of the election.

Temple Teachers Chosen.

Temple, June 28.—The Temple school board has chosen a full staff of school teachers for the coming school year with one exception, that being a position in the high school. W. W. Clement has been re-elected city superintendent, L. C. Proctor principal of high school, and L. L. LeFlore principal of negro schools. Fifty-five white and eight colored teachers will be employed in the schools next year, making a total of sixty-three, the largest in the history of the schools.

Revival at Mt. Calm.

Mt. Calm, June 28.—Rev. J. A. Fitzgerald of Weatherford began a series of revival services at the Baptist church yesterday under the auspices of the Christian church. The meeting will last ten days, after which the Baptists will hold their annual meeting, followed immediately by the Methodist. This means that Mt. Calm will enjoy a continuous revival for five weeks or longer.

Auto Factory at Temple.

Temple, June 28.—The Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a proposition from an automobile manufacturer to locate an assembling plant for the machine in this city provided certain conditions are complied with. The state headquarters of the company are now located at Texas City, but a more central point is required. The matter will be given due consideration by the local organization.

Farmers Union Will Not Move.

Fort Worth, June 28.—The report published in yesterday morning's papers that the headquarters of the Texas Farmers union would be moved to Houston July 15 is characterized by the union as a mere rumor. They say they know of no such removal from Fort Worth except during the life of the state convention which will begin in Houston Aug. 3.

Fixing Aquilla Bridge.

West, June 28.—Following the narrow escape of a negro driver and the killing of two mules last week on the McLennan-Hill county line bridge across Aquilla creek, four miles west of here, the structure is being overhauled this week.

HIPPODROME.

Submarine Pictures.

In the now famous submarine pictures showing at the Hippodrome again today and tomorrow, luring a monster shark, by means of the carcass of a horse, Ernest Williamson faces the terror of the deep, eludes the ugly teeth and plunges a knife into his belly.

Have you ever wrestled, battled and fought with a huge shark? If not you have denied yourself a great deal of physical exercise which can only be obtained in a real good tussle with one of the old pirates of the deep.

Have you ever laid on your cot, and, as you closed your eyes, thought of some huge, slimy, slippery fellow, with great big teeth and eyes that hinted to you that fury was in the creature's soul? You drew yourself under the blankets and tried to brush the vision from your mind. Eventually you did, and you fell asleep. That was only a dream.

Suppose you should be confronted with such an experience in broad daylight, with your eyes wide open. What would you do if you were down in the deep, with few clothes on, swimming along, minding your own affairs, when suddenly a big white demon as white as snow without and as black as ebony within, glared at you with eyes as big as chestnuts. What would you do? What would anyone do? You look again and you see he is flapping his fins, which makes him look something like a ferry-boat, back-paddling in mid stream, in order to avoid collision. But this old boy isn't back-paddling to avoid collision with you; he is making a careful study of your anatomy, with a view to deciding just which portion of your constitution he will digest first! He's dying to take a good bite of your sweet, tender meat! It takes a great amount of courage to face one of these fellows, but if you may be able to get back to earth and tell your friends about the terrible fight you had down there in the deep. And in the dark, too! But suppose you had no one who saw your shark wouldn't admit it, and the inhabitants down there are of a different world, they never come to earth and so they could never verify your story. For hundreds of years men have been in the habit of returning from long voyages with wonderful tales of adventure which the public have branded as "fish."

But, what would your friends say if, after repeating your story of the fight with the shark, you flashed a photograph on them showing that your story was a truthful one! Suppose you showed them photographs which had recorded every movement both you and the shark had made in that terrible death battle!

What chance would there be then for the analytical fellow who goes through life picking flaws in the other fellow's efforts and tries to smash all the achievements of those who are ever trying to "make good."

Well, to get down to cold, hard facts, that's just what Ernest Williamson did. He descended into the waters of Nassau harbor, with little to shield him from the jaws of one of those sea monsters and battled with one of those fierce members of the shark family until he finally managed to plunge his knife into the heart of the beautiful creature.

And all the time he was fighting this monster, a man with a moving picture camera was standing in a steel tube on the bottom of the ocean taking pictures through a big glass window located in the tube! Every movement of the man and the shark was faithfully recorded and made a part of the famous Williamson Submarine Pictures, which have been prepared by the Universal Film Manufacturing company.

These pictures are the most wonderful of their kind ever taken. They are marvelous and there is little doubt but what Ernest and George Williamson have achieved something which will cause their names to be written in the history of science.

REX TODAY.

Belasco's great modern American success, "The Governor's Lady," in which Miss Edith Wynne Mathison is seen in photodrama for the first time, tells the story of an ambitious man who suddenly acquires wealth and feels that the wife, who shared his poverty, is not able to adapt herself to the new surroundings. This man, who is a type of successful American, becomes infatuated with the daughter of a senator—a girl who does not love him but whose ambition impels her in his direction. The faithful wife, however, refuses to give her husband the divorce necessary for his marriage with the other woman, and thereby prevents him from suffering the full penalty of his folly.

In the end, having won the position of governor, the husband finds that his honors are empty without his wife. He pleads with her and she finally agrees to take her proper place as "The Governor's Lady." In addition to Miss Mathison, the company includes James Niel, Tom Forman, Theodore Roberts and May Allison.

"What a Woman Will Do." Alice, the second wife of Philip Lewis, proves an unkind stepmother to his daughter, Dolly. Lewis and his wife quarrel and she runs away with her former lover, Frederick Bryce. Ten years pass by. Lewis has lost money, so his daughter, Dolly, becomes a chorus girl. Meanwhile, Alice has ruined Frederick Bryce, who shoots himself just as Lewis arrives on receipt of a letter from Bryce. The police hear the shot, rush in and arrest Lewis, who is holding the smoking revolver. Bryce's own brother, Judge Bryce, tries the case and gives Lewis a life sentence as Frederick's letter, which shows that he had intended suicide, had been mislaid. Dolly tries to approach the judge, but he will not see her. Through her chorus girl acquaintances she secures an introduction to the judge's son, Jack, under her stage name of Vivian Gray, and by exercising her charms over him wins his love completely. Meanwhile, Jack has been spending his father's money lavishly on Dolly and the judge refuses to provide him with further funds. Then Dolly writes an anonymous letter to the judge telling him when and where he can find Jack squandering money on an actress. The judge goes to the cafe where he confronts Jack and Dolly. There is a scene—Jack strikes his father, who goes sorrowfully home alone. Jack is seized with a sudden attack of illness and falling strikes his head on a table. Meantime, in consideration of a large sum of money, the judge has secured Dolly's promise to abandon his son and leave the country. Jack on his bed of sickness raves for Dolly. At the physician's advice the judge changes his mind and now going to Dolly's apartment, implores her to see Jack at once. Taking advantage of her opportunity then for the first time she tells the judge her real name, and tells him that she is Dolly Lewis, the daughter of an innocent man whom he had sentenced for life. Judge Bryce starts back in horror and accidentally knocks over a book from which falls the missing letter which secures a new trial for Dolly's father. Then Dolly accompanies the judge to Jack's bedside. There is an affecting love scene. The judge exercises his influence in behalf of Philip Lewis, securing his release and freedom, and then brings him to his own home, where the two fathers find Jack and Dolly making love—parental blessings are pronounced and all ends happily.

A CEMENT SILO AT WOOD PRICES

This Silo was built for W. D. Lacy Coal Company, Eleventh and Jackson streets, to feed their work stock. Mr. Lacy will cut his feed bill one-third by having this silo. We invite you to come in and see this silo, and also inspect our factory, as we are manufacturing them here in Waco. All that we ask is that you come down and inspect the plant, and see for yourself that this is the best silo for the small cost of any you can buy.

You can also tear this SILO down and reconstruct to any size you want. We guarantee to build you a cement SILO as cheap as you can buy a wooden one, and it will last a lifetime, and there will be no painting or up keep. The first cost is the TOTAL COST.

Dr. A. J. Armstrong Will Give Lectures On Travels at Baylor

Among the most interesting and unusual features of the Baylor summer school will be two lectures given on the campus by Dr. A. J. Armstrong, head of the department of English. In his extensive European travels he has procured many pictures both by the use of the kodak and by frequenting the shops which no one ever sees on this side of the Atlantic except in private collections.

Many of the best of these he has photographed and stereopticon slides have been made from them. With these he will illustrate his two lectures, while from his close personal knowledge of the places and their literary and historic associations he will be able to add many interesting facts. Lawn lectures have been very popular in Baylor in the past few summers and with the aid of the stereopticon, they promise much more.

The two lectures on Switzerland and Italy will be given on June 29 and 30, at 8:15 p. m., and may possibly be followed by others which will be announced later.

Bids Wanted on Oats.

Sealed proposal addressed to the mayor and board of commissioners will be received till 3 p. m. Wednesday, June 30, 1915, for furnishing the City of Waco first class oats in quantities of two to ten thousand bushels.

CHIEFS OF POLICE DO NOT CHANGE PLAN

CONVENTION WILL BE HELD IN FORT WORTH ON JULY
28, 29 AND 30.

WACO BIDS FOR 1916 MEETING

Notice Served on Executive and Transportation Committees by R. E. L. Montgomery.

The next meeting of the Texas Police Chiefs' and City Marshals' association will be held in Fort Worth, according to the original plans made at the convention in San Antonio last year. A meeting of the executive and transportation committees of the association was held yesterday afternoon in the commission chamber at the city hall. Dates for the meeting in Fort Worth were set as July 28, 29, 30, a trip to Galveston to be made on a special train leaving July 30. The convention which was to have been held in Fort Worth June 15, 16 and 17, was indefinitely postponed on account of the high water then covering a great part of the city. Some of the members of the executive committee felt that Fort Worth had not shown sufficient enthusiasm about the convention, and favored holding it in another city.

Chief McNamara at once put Waco in the running for the convention if it was decided to change the meeting place. Chief McNamara suggested that the meeting of the association be held in Waco on the same dates as the Texas Sheriffs' association convention, July 13 and 14. His efforts were seconded by J. J. Hutchison, R. E. L. Montgomery and W. V. Crawford, representing the Young Men's Business League, and Sheriff S. S. Fleming by telephone from Austin.

Former Police Chief O. R. Montgomery of Fort Worth was called over the telephone by Chief Knight of Corsicana, president of the association, and former Chief Hollis Barron of Waco. He insisted that the convention carry out its intention to come to Fort Worth, promising adequate entertainment. Chief of Police John W. Ryan of Dallas made the motion to carry out the original plan of holding the convention at Fort Worth, which was seconded by Hollis Barron, and adopted by the committees.

Chief Ryan of Dallas, George A. Smith of Dallas, O. R. Montgomery of Fort Worth, and J. W. Vann were appointed by President Knight as a committee to make arrangements for the special train to carry the members of the association with their families to Galveston, leaving Fort Worth on the morning of July 30. Honorary members of the association, city officials and newspaper men will be privileged to go on the train. The committee will report to the convention July 28, and if enough tickets have been sold at that time to provide the guarantee required by the railroad company for the special train the plan will be abandoned and members released to take advantage of the regular week-end rates to Galveston.

R. E. L. Montgomery, chairman of the convention committee of the Y. M. B. L., addressed the meeting, inviting the association to hold its 1916 meeting in Waco. Mr. Montgomery served notice that the invitation of the Y. M. B. L. would be pressed at the meeting of the association in Fort Worth next month. Advantages of Waco as a convention city were detailed, with the suggestion that it would be well for the police chiefs and city marshals to select Waco as their permanent convention city.

Chief Ben S. Davidson of Houston was directed to take charge of the arrangements at Galveston for the entertainment of the excursionists in case the special train is run from Fort Worth.

The following members of the executive committee were present at the meeting here yesterday afternoon: Hollis Barron, formerly police chief of Waco; J. J. Walker, city marshal of Kerens; J. H. Bonds, city marshal of Rockdale; S. M. Allen, city marshal of Teague. Members of the transportation committee present were: Geo. A. Smith, Smith Detective agency, Dallas, secretary of the association; John W. Ryan, chief of police, Dallas; Ben S. Davidson, chief of police, Houston; J. W. Vann, chief special agent of the M. & T. railway. The meeting was presided over by Will S. Knight, chief of police of Corsicana, president of the association.

Waco men present at the meeting included John Dollins, street commissioner, formerly chief of police; Guy McNamara, chief; Charles James, assistant chief; President J. J. Hutchison, Directors R. E. L. Montgomery and W. V. Crawford, representing the Young Men's Business League.

The original program for the convention in Fort Worth, which will be carried out next month, is as follows:

Wednesday, July 28.
Meeting called to order at 10 a. m. Prayer by the chaplain.
Address of welcome by Mayor Tyra of Fort Worth.

Response by Hon. R. L. Winfrey, police and fire commissioner, Dallas.
Transaction of business and reading of papers on live subjects by men who know what they are talking about.

In the afternoon the visiting ladies will be entertained by the ladies of Fort Worth at a lawn party and in the evening they will make a round of the picture shows. Each lady will be considered a guest of Fort Worth and will be provided with a badge which will open the doors of any picture show to her and pass her on any street car. The entertainment of the ladies at all times will be looked after by a joint committee of ten; five being appointed from Fort Worth and the following five being appointed from among the visitors by the president of the union: Mrs. J. W. Ryan, Dallas; Mrs. Geo. A. Smith, Dallas; Mrs. W. L. Sallis, Brenham; Mrs. Hollis Barron, Waco; Mrs. W. M. Rea, Fort Worth; Mrs. Will S. Knight, Corsicana.

In the evening the men will be escorted to the Texas Brewing company's plant, where they will be entertained with a luncheon, speeches, music by a quartette, comedians, etc.

Thursday, June 29.

Business session will last until 2 p. m., when it will adjourn and the officers and their families will take waiting automobiles to the packing houses where luncheon will be served. After luncheon, the ride will be continued over the city and then out to Hermann park, where wrestling
